DOMESTIC VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN.

TETA YURISTA MILATI, AWALUDDIN TJALLA, DR

Undergraduate Program, 2007

Gunadarma University

http://www.gunadarma.ac.id

key words: violence

ABSTRACT:

The more days we are getting closer to the violence perpetrated against women. Such incidents are routinely present to us through the medium of television, newspapers or events that occur directly in front of us. Acts of violence against women has been going on throughout the history of human life. Women say are vulnerable to all forms of violence, because his position is weak or deliberately weakened, both socially, economically, and politically. Actions or treatment of violence against women transformed into various forms of everyday life of women in almost all societies. Violence against women is an important issue because the situation is getting worse, and was rooted so strong that almost no longer visible the existence of violence that always faced women. In the socialization role of women see marriage as a goal in life and source happiness. The person mentioned is the husband or partner in a marriage or a better known by the term domestic violence. Domestic violence itself is defined as any act against anyone, especially women, which result in misery or suffering of physical, sexual, psychological, and / or negligence of household including threat to commit act, coercion, or deprivation of liberty unlawfully within the scope of household. In this case, the violence directed at women is the wife of domestic violence victims. The violence itself is divided into various forms of physical violence, psychological violence, economic violence, sexual violence, and spiritual violence. Therefore, the researcher uses a qualitative approach method to obtain a thorough understanding, intact, and the depth of the phenomenon under study. Researchers also use vi-making techniques with the interview data using the tools of research that is guided interview and a tape recorder to facilitate the research process. The subjects studied are wives who are victims of domestic violence, at least have been married for two years, not divorced, and at least one type of violence experienced. Having conducted the third study indicated that subjects experienced more than one form of violence but only on the three subjects have the spiritual violence that is where the perpetrator is usually condescending confidence and trust of the subject, forcing... the subject to believe things that are not believed, or even force the subjects to practice certain rituals and beliefs. In this study, is expected to build public awareness about the issue of domestic violence against women is his wife and help reduce domestic violence, and also especially for women victims of domestic violence can better understand the situation and empower themselves so that the violence does not happen again.